 4:00 - 5:30 pm Program, Reception following
Location Dorsey & Whitney
 50 S Sixth Street, Suite 1500-Minnesota Room
 Minneapolis, MN 55402

- What makes a city great for kids and families?
- How do policy, demographics and the built environment drive and respond to the desires of families?
- How do we accommodate and attract families to the Twin Cities region and then keep them here?

Our distinguished panel includes: Northrop Environmental School Principal Reinaldo Aponte; Minnesota Safe Route to School Network organizer Jill Chamberlain; HKGi Director of Design Jeff McMenimen; New Horizon Companies Director of Business Development Jill Gilbertson; City of Chaska’s Director of Community Development Kevin Ringwald; and moderator David Frank of Schafer Richardson and the North Loop Neighborhood Association.

Don’t miss this important discussion exploring:

- Why designing for children and parents means a more livable community for everyone
- Programs that encourage children to connect with their communities
- Innovative models for school and public amenity development
- Factors influencing where businesses that serve families site new facilities
- Kid-focused health and safety community initiatives
