Chuck Marohn, PE AICP
Executive Director, Strong Towns,
National Speaker

Hear Charles Marohn give a candid talk about the future of America's cities, towns and neighborhoods and interactively participate in the discussion.

Topics include:

- Why our cities and towns are so short of resources despite decades of robust growth
- Why we struggle at the local level just to maintain our basic infrastructure
- What can we do now that the economy has changed so dramatically

Marohn's presentation has been called a "stunning game changer" for communities looking to be resilient and have prosperous growth during changing times. Charles will focus on these three major themes:

- The current path cities are pursuing is not financially stable
- The future for most cities will not resemble the recent past
- The main determinant of future prosperity for cities will be local leaders' ability to transform their communities

As Executive Director of Strong Towns, Marohn leads the nonpartisan, nonprofit organization that is focused on the root of what it sees as the systemic problems facing our communities: land use patterns – the way we have designed our towns, neighborhoods, and cities.
